Expert panels on advances in survivorship care, cancer genetics, financial navigation, and emotional wellness. Music and art therapy. Massages and beauty consultations. Furry friends who eagerly await a head scratch from you. These are a few ways we want to celebrate National Cancer Survivor Month with you during a week-long menu of fun and informative events, both in-person and virtual.

If you are newly diagnosed, in treatment, or finished treatment, we welcome you to join us for a variety of offerings (duke.is/6/srbd), which will take place across Durham and Wake Counties this June. If a special person is helping you survive and thrive, feel free to celebrate that relationship by bringing them along.

“We understand how cancer can impact a person’s emotional, relational, physical, and financial health,” said Cheyenne Corbett, PhD, co-Director of the Supportive Care and Survivorship Center. “So we’re gathering experts in all of these areas to help you learn about the best services, resources, and strategies available for living your best life.”

Another reason Corbett and her team are excited about their 16th annual Survivorship Days: spectacular advances in cancer research and treatment mean that more than 18.1 million people in the U.S. are cancer survivors living with, though, and beyond their disease.

To learn more and to register for Survivorship Week events at a cancer care location closest to you, visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/SurvivorshipDay.
Cancer Support Services

Duke Cancer Institute offers a variety of cancer support and survivorship services for patients and their loved ones to assist with navigating life during and after cancer treatment. Our goal is to shape the future of cancer survivorship and improve the quality of life throughout treatment.

Patient and Nurse Navigation
Navigators support patients, families, and caregivers through their cancer care. They make sure you have information to make decisions and advocate for your needs. They identify barriers to care and connect you with available resources, as needed. Our navigators support you all the way from diagnosis to end of treatment. If you are interested in learning more, contact your healthcare team and ask what Navigation services are available to you.

Clinical Social Work
Oncology and palliative care social workers help patients and their loved ones cope with emotional and practical concerns. They identify and address specific needs, working to alleviate stressors and financial burdens associated with a cancer diagnosis. Then they connect you and your loved ones with resources such as disability, home health/hospice, advance directives and end-of-life care. To learn more, contact your healthcare team and ask about Clinical Social Work services.

Chaplain Services & Education
Duke chaplains are on site seven days a week to offer spiritual support to you and your loved ones. When requested, they connect you with faith-specific representatives from the community. To learn more, contact Chaplain Services & Education at Duke Cancer Institute locations. In Raleigh, call 919.812.7972; for Duke Cancer Center in Durham, 919.684.3586; or Duke Cancer Center North Durham, 919.470.5363.

Therapy and Counseling
Our medical family therapists provide individual, couples, and family therapy. They help you and your loved ones cope with the impact of cancer, all at no cost. Psychiatry and psychology services are also available and offered as part of our treatment for emotional, psychological, and relational issues associated with a cancer diagnosis. To learn more, visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/Therapy-and-Support-Groups.

Sexual Health Services
Sexual health services explain the impact cancer treatments can have on sexual health and intimacy. They help you address concerns surrounding sexual function, sexual feelings, intimacy, and changes in sexual health. To learn more, visit DukeCancerInstitute.org/SupportiveCare.
